Hazelnut Academy Starts Oct. 2nd Enrollment Open for Iowa Nut Growers Association Course

FENTON, Iowa (Sept. 22nd 2022) — The Iowa Nut Growers Association, as part of their IA Hazelnut Project, is enrolling individuals for the Hazelnut Academy course that starts on Sunday, Oct. 2nd. This six-session course will take attendees through the entire process of understanding the opportunities and challenges of growing hazelnuts in the Midwest.

Topics include hazelnut basics, planning a planting, establishing seedlings, where to get plants, care and maintenance, harvest and processing, as well as marketing, record keeping, and food safety. For full details and schedule visit the Iowa Nut Growers Association website at <https://iowanutgrowers.com>

Instructor Jeff Jensen with the Iowa Nut Growers Association and lead contact for the IA Hazelnut Project, will educate and entertain attendees over the course of six sessions, each about an hour long. “This is a great course for anyone interested in hazelnuts specifically, or agroforestry in general, because many of the lessons are applicable to other nut crops as well,” said Jeff.

The course is offered online through Zoom so registration is required to receive the Zoom link to attend. All sessions will be in the evenings from 6:00 to 7:30 pm.
